Information herein is based on sources we believe to be accurate and reliable as at the date it was made. We reserve the right to revise any information herein at any time without notice. No offer or solicitation to buy or sell securities and no investment advice or recommendation is made herein. In making investment decisions, investors should not rely solely on this material but should seek independent professional advice.

Investing in fixed income instruments (if applicable) may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemption.

Investment involves risks, in particular, risks associated with investment in emerging and less developed markets. Past performance is not indicative of future performance.

Investors should read the prospectus for further details, including the risk factors, before investing. This material and website have not been reviewed by the Securities and Futures Commission of Hong Kong. Issued by Allianz Global Investors Asia Pacific Limited

Manager's Comments

US equities rallied over July, the S&P 500 Index touching its highest level since February with better than expected corporate earnings. The second half of the month also saw a rotation from growth to value, as well as the outperformance of small-cap stocks compared to larger companies. European equities closed July slightly lower (in EUR terms). Fears of a second wave of COVID-19 infections weighed on sentiment towards month-end, dispelling optimism over the agreement of a EUR 750 billion Recovery Fund.

美國股市在7月份攀升，標準普爾500指數創2月份以來的最高水平，主要受到企業盈利優於預期所帶動。在7月下旬，市場資金由增長型轉換至價值型股票，而小型股表現亦優於較大型企業。歐洲股市在7月份輕微低收（以歐元計）。市場憂慮爆發第二輪新型冠狀病毒疫情，導致投資情緒在月底轉壞，抵銷市場對歐元區達成7,500億歐元復甦基金協議的利好影響。
